

Allison Garret, Founder of Pamper Perfect Mobile Spa

Known as Americas Prison Break Coach, Allison T Garrett's own rise from being labeled a habitual offender to prominence deems her an expert on personal and professional success. Allison lived a life plagued with abuse, addiction, and crime. With a criminal history, low self-esteem and no one to guide her, she went to prison and developed her own method of recovery by redefining success. Through persistence and determination, Allison refused to allow her ex-offender status to define her.

Once released from prison, Allison was determined to be productive and successful despite her past. With no money, bad credit and minimum resources she started Pamper Perfect Mobile Spa which is now a Five Star, 6 figure business that operates in several US cities.

Allison became an award winning national, TedX Speaker, author, certified life coach and entrepreneur.

This extraordinary woman has a wonderful husband, two amazing children, Kahlil and Jayda, and 2 granddaughters 5 year old Nova and 1 year old MarleyRay.

Her motto is "If at first you don't succeed...redefine success"

Anne Rice Burgess, President & CEO of Methodist Home for Children and Methodist Services

Anne Rice-Burgess has developed a career devoted to helping children and families as they face the challenges of limited resources, increased poverty, homelessness, disabilities and deficits in education. Anne's professional philosophy is that no matter a person's circumstances he/she deserves the best and once that person has had the opportunity to experience something better than what they've known, they will work hard to keep it. Most people need support and those that are underprivileged should be given a helping hand, without hesitation.

Anne was adopted into her family at a year old and is a product of Philadelphia Quaker school education, a graduate of Georgetown University with a Bachelor's degree in Psychology and a Master's degree in Counseling Psychology and Marriage and Family Therapy from Chestnut Hill College. She obtained professional certification as a Human Resources professional at Villanova University and a certificate in Executive Leadership from Bryn Mawr College.

Anne Rice-Burgess began her career with Methodist Services 28 years ago. Of the work that Anne holds most dear will always be the many families whom she helped become whole through adoption, the housing programs for homeless youth, women and families she helped to create and the organic urban farm on the Methodist Services campus. In 2021 Anne led the construction of a new 47 unit housing complex designed for individuals and families who have experienced homelessness, half who have disabilities with special assistive technology; supported by a housing as health collaborative. Anne leads with vision and desire to shape the positive trajectory for every person served and every person doing the work towards that purpose.

Odessa Summers, Philadelphia Linkage Program Coordinator at Action Wellness

Odessa Summers is a leader by nature; she's inspiring, giving of her time, a true advocate and motivator of people. When asked by some coworkers who Odessa is, she is often described as an initiator for change, her smile and her energy almost dares others to dream along with her, she is a ball of fire and someone others inspire to mimic. Odessa pushes her team towards greatness; if there is something she doesn't know; she doesn't settle for the lack of knowledge. Not only will she assist her team with finding the solution, but will point them in the proper direction to research further. Odessa works at Action Wellness and has been a part of the family for 15 years; her previous position while at Action Wellness; as a Senior HIV re-entry Medical Case Manager has now exceeded her to her current position as Case Management Coordinator who also supervises Care Outreach Specialist for the past 10 years.

Odessa is currently enrolled at Widener University earning her Master's Degree in Social Work. She has a Bachelor's Degree from Penn State in Biobehavioral Health. Odessa has spent all of her professional career passionately working within the HIV service systems in which she is a Certified HIV Counselor and Tester. She was also a Prevention Coordinator and oversaw a HIV prevention community mobilization effort in West Philadelphia. She is trained to train staff on multiple CDC effective behavioral interventions. One goal that she holds dear to her heart is opening a school in Philadelphia. Her heart of service and fighting for what is right is what moves her on a daily basis.

She considers herself, "Philly's Daughter" and works from a social justice lens while providing love and empathy to the hurting, overlooked, "no voice" and underserved communities. Odessa considers herself as a revolutionary not to mention a visionary as well, who dedicates her time and effort in advocating and marching for the community members who are often forgotten or overlooked.
